Source Documentation 101

Sigrun Biesenbach-Lucas & Donette Brantner-Artenie

TESOL Connections, April 2017

Sample Excerpted Grading Rubrics

Example from Academic Bridge Reading/Writing/Research – Recommendation Report

/	d balance of paraphrases and quotes
•	fewer quotes than paraphrases!)
	ent use of own words in paraphrases imentation provided for all ideas that require rce attribution
	opriate source documentation within the report,
	APA format
	opriate Reference citations at the end of the ort, in APA format
Paper	Advanced Reading/Writing/Research – International Cooperation Research
Use of Source	ces:
	You accurately and effectively paraphrased ideas from your sources.
	You used quotations appropriately and accurately.
	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis. You gave credit to sources through reporting signals, in-text citations, and a
	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis.
	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis. You gave credit to sources through reporting signals, in-text citations, and a works cited page.
Formatting:	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis. You gave credit to sources through reporting signals, in-text citations, and a works cited page.
Formatting: You formatt	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis. You gave credit to sources through reporting signals, in-text citations, and a works cited page.  ed the following components of the paper according to the guidelines:  A Style citations of source material
Formatting: You formatt	You used quotations appropriately and accurately. You used reporting signals (verbs, expressions) to separate your source ideas from your own analysis. You gave credit to sources through reporting signals, in-text citations, and a works cited page.  ed the following components of the paper according to the guidelines: